

For UK: Door to Door Visits For Injections

A plan for sending teams “armed with Covid vaccines” has been announced in the UK today (25 December 2021). This is an attempt to intimidate and coerce a very large part of the population that has freely chosen not to take the experimental injection. The number is as large as 25 million people. This article helps you to handle such a visit in the best manner.

WHAT’S IN THE LAW

On the face of it, Section 45C of the Public Health (Control of Disease) Act 1984 allows the ‘appropriate Minister’ (currently this would be Sajid Javid MP) to introduce measures for the purpose of ‘preventing, protecting against, controlling or providing a public health response’ in an epidemic or outbreak. That is the authority under which the Government passed the Regulations. However, Section 45E of the Public Health (Control of Disease) Act 1984 provides that those ‘measures’ cannot include a requirement for persons to undergo ‘medical treatment’ which is defined to include vaccination. As such, there is no legal requirement to be vaccinated in the UK. Because of this, various techniques have been used to coerce people to take the experimental injection, with aggressive marketing and behavioural psychology.

This is the actual text of Section 45E:¹

Medical treatment

(1) Regulations under section 45B or 45C may not include provision requiring a person to undergo medical treatment.

(2) “ Medical treatment ” includes vaccination and other prophylactic treatment.

DOOR TO DOOR VACCINATIONS

It is important to record the interaction if you are able to.

Welcome the people and ask them all to provide photo identification and employer details which you may needed for legal purposes. If they are not prepared to give you this information, you can ask them to leave your property if you want and tell them that not leaving would be trespass and/or harassment. If however, you want to engage with them, whether you take their name and details or not, then you can ask them the following questions:

Ask them the following:

1. What risk is “covid” to me & my age group?
2. How long have you been trained to administer an injection?
3. Are the vaccines safe?
4. Are the vaccines effective?
5. Are these vaccines currently in a trial?
6. Do the vaccines stop “infection” and “transmission”?
7. What are the list of injuries related so far to these jobs?
8. How many people have been injured or died from the job.
9. What are the ingredients in this jab?
10. Where is the product insert with all the placebo and safety study information?
11. What level immunity is stronger and longer lasting, natural or vaccine induced?

If they do not answer or are unable to answer, then they are not giving fully informed consent/choice and you can make a formal complaint to their head office.

You can also ask them to sign any paperwork you may have already prepared requiring such compensation that the person injecting you would agree to pay, this being a significant sum should you suffer any harm or injury. Ask them to sign it first, this being a condition of you taking the injection.

Provided below is data from the Yellow Card reporting system (MHRA) for the UK showing deaths and injuries reported to date, keeping in mind this is only a fraction of the true numbers due to under reporting.
